NEW REEF GEAR REGS! Story inside

The President's Message

FISHING WILL ONLY GET BETTER!!

Reports are coming in that fish are showing up more regularly. I think that's great! Our Sheepshead Shootout was another success. Eight boats participated and the prize went to two anglers, Dave Rasmussen and Joe Mealy, who tied with a 20" Sheepshead,.

I have been informed that April will bring the KINGFISH KLASH, please stay tuned for the particulars on this upcoming event.

Our Fish of the Month (FOM) for April will be Kingfish for off shore and Tripletail for backwater. Please remember to check our leader board for 2008 and use the form to submit your fish. This year has started off being a very productive year.

By the way. I am sure you have all heard the news that the March Madness Trout Tournament was won by Team Knot-Head, consisting of Jim "High hook"

Malerba and me. Boy, if that doesn't prove that everyone has an equal chance, then nothing will. We have had more special events so far this year than ever in years past. Please send us an email and let us know what you are thinking. We need to know if we are on the right track. Our goal is for all to get involved and have fun with the sport of fishing. Your input is important.

Here's a list of our upcoming happenings:

- Naples Kid's Fishing. It's not too late call Tom Johnson and volunteer.
- Regarding our next meeting, Capt. Jay Peeler, a well know local backwater guide, will speak at the meeting on April 3rd. The meeting will be the last chance to bring in your dues for 2008. After that the books are closed.
- There will be a picnic on TUESDAY Apr 15.
- Backwater fishing will be on the 11th.
- The "KINGFISH KLASH" is on the 17th. The rules are to be announced

Please be sure to read the article about the mandatory "Reef Gear" that will be needed effective June 1st. The article was written by Bryan Fluech, our Sea Grant Agent. This may also be a good time to check out any new fishing regulations published January 1, 2008 on the FWC website. We need to be aware the State is consistently making changes.

Remember, the fish are getting bigger: always keep one hand on your rod. See ya' at the bait shop. Regards, Peter

- 2] You may choose to fish in either the gulf or backwater, anytime, any method, any species. Fish must be caught within 60 nautical miles of Marco. No charters. Use of guides is prohibited.

REQUIRED: Entries with incomplete or missing information are not eligible Name, Email Address (or phone number), Species, Size in Inches (fork or pinched per FWC size limit rules), Bait or Lure Used, Location (ex. Cape Romano, 5 Mile Reef etc.), Fishing Method (ex. Casting, Drifting, Anchored, Chumming etc.) Tide (ex. Incoming, Outgoing etc.)

REPORT YOUR CATCH TO www.MarcoSportfishingClub.com If you do not have access to the website, you can send your entry to alanmusico@embarqmail.com or call 239-642-9729. Entries reported by other means will be recorded when they are received and acknowledged, not when they are sent. Entries must be reported by 12 noon on the 1st day of the month following the catch. Winners of both the Fish of the Month contest and new Leader Board entries will be announced at the next monthly members meeting

New Reef Gear Regulations Slated for June 1st

Written by Bryan Fluech, Collier County Sea Grant Extension Agent

Starting June 1st, anglers will be required to possess and use certain reef fishing gear while fishing in state and federal waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

NOAA Fisheries approved Reef Amendment 27/14 in February with the goal of implementing long-term measures to end over-fishing in the Gulf's red snapper fishery and reduce release mortality in reef fish. The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) have also approved these measures to maintain consistency with the federal management plan and protect the red snapper fishery.

In addition to other rules which will reduce the red snapper total allowable catch for both commercial and recreation sectors, the commercial size limit, and the recreational bag limit and fishing season, the amendment will require all vessels targeting Gulf reef fish to have on board non-stainless circle hooks, dehooking devices, and venting tools.

Non-stainless circle hooks will be required for harvest of all reef fish when using natural baits. Due to their design, circle hooks tend to hook a fish in the corner of the mouth and reduce gut hooking, facilitating higher post-release survival rates. Anglers accustomed to fishing with J-style hooks will need to slightly modify their technique when using circle hooks. When a fish eats the bait, it is necessary to allow time for the fish to completely swallow the hook before steadily reeling in the line. Do not attempt to set the hook by sharply jerking the rod as this will pull the hook out of the fish's mouth.

At least one dehooking device will be required on each vessel to remove hooks embedded in reef fish. Dehooking devices allow for quicker and safer hook removal and reduces the risk of a hook re-engaging during the removal process. They also minimize injuries to both the fish and angler by reducing the need to handle the fish. According to a spokeswoman with FWC, the dehooking device must be constructed to allow the hook to be secured and the barb shielded without re-engaging during the removal process. It must be blunt and all edges rounded, and it must be of a size appropriate to secure the range of hook sizes and styles used in the Gulf reef fish fishery.

Finally, Gulf anglers will be required to use venting tools to minimize impacts on reef fish with ruptured swim bladders. A reef fish's swim bladder can over expand and rupture when brought from depth using hook and line. Releasing a fish in this condition prevents it from returning to depth and exposes it to predators and the elements. A venting tool, which is a hollow, sharpened instrument such as a hypodermic syringe with the plunger removed allows the trapped gases to be released. Ice picks and knives should not be used because simply puncturing the fish is undesirable and can result in a further injury. The venting tool should be inserted 1 to 2 inches behind the pectoral fin at a 45 degree angle. It should only be inserted deep enough to help deflate the fish.

With more stringent state and federal reef fishing regulations on the way, the need for responsible individual actions is more important than ever. Although catch and release angling has proven to be a valuable conservation tool, the effectiveness of fisheries management is diminished if fish do not survive after being released. If anglers are not already familiar with the use of circle hooks, dehooking devices, and venting tools, take the time to learn how to use them and why they are important to the health of our fisheries. Check with local tackle shops for advice on the appropriate equipment to use. To learn more about these conservation tools and other sustainable angling practices contact the Collier County Sea Grant Extension Agent at (239) 417-6310x225 or visit <http://collier.ifas.ufl.edu/SeaGrant/Anglers.shtml>.
